

PSHE in EYFS 2023-4

The EYFS framework is structured very differently to the national curriculum as it is organised across seven areas of learning rather than subject areas.

This document demonstrates which early years outcomes are prerequisite skills for PSHE within the national curriculum. The table below outlines the most relevant early years outcomes from 30-50 months to ELG, brought together from different areas of the Early Years Foundation Stage, to match the programme of study for PSHE.

The most relevant early years outcomes for PSHE are taken from the following areas of learning:

- Personal, Social and Emotional Development
- Physical Development
- Understanding the World

PSHE

To usually be dry and clean during the day. To show some understanding that good practices with regard to exercise, eating, sleeping and hygiene can contribute to good health. To show understanding of the need for safety when tackling new challenges, and consider and manage some risks. To practice some appropriate safety measures without direct supervision.

ELG	Personal, Social and Emotional Development	Self-Confidence and Self-Awareness	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To be confident to try new activities and say why they like some activities more than others. They are confident to speak in a familiar group, will talk about their ideas, and will choose the resources they need for their chosen activities. They say when they do or don't need help.
		Managing Feelings and Behaviour	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To talk about how they and others show feelings, talk about their own and others' behaviour and its consequences, and know that some behaviour is unacceptable. They work as part of a group or class and understand and follow the rules. They adjust their behaviour to different situations, and take changes of routine in their stride.
		Making Relationships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To play cooperatively, taking turns with others. They take account of one another's ideas about how to organise their activity. They show sensitivity to others' needs and feelings and form positive relationships with adults and other children.
	Physical Development	Health and Self-Care	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To know the importance for good health of physical exercise and a healthy diet, and talk about ways to keep healthy and safe.

PSHE in the early years is taught mainly through daily routines and continuous provision. The role of the adult is to support children in making the correct decisions through discussions and leading by example. Staff will follow the school behaviour policy reminding children of the expectations, staff being consistent in their approaches. Carpet times will be used to build relationships between children and staff and enable children to develop their confidence and social skills. Staff support children in learning how to deal with issues between friends, using stories help children to begin to understand feelings and to discuss how situations make us feel. New experiences and visits will help children to learn how to manage their behaviour in different situations, how to self-regulate and deal with changes in their routine. Interventions such as Time To Talk and ELSA Eyfs will be used to support some children identified by staff.
